

The new more fuel efficient Audi A4 2.0 TDIe 136PS.

With CO₂ emissions of 120g/km and 61.4mpg combined.

The Audi A4 2.0 TDIe 136PS Saloon. From £24,225 ROTR.

With CO₂ emissions of just 120g/km and combined fuel consumption of an impressive 61.4mpg, the Audi A4 2.0 TDIe Saloon proves that efficiency and economy need not be achieved at the expense of driving enjoyment. Its 136PS output and sporty six-speed manual gearbox mean it doesn't disappoint on the road.

The latest TDI technology, including automatic start-stop and recuperation, makes the A4 2.0 TDIe one of the cleanest cars in class, with emissions that place it in the 13% BIK band. Monthly liability for a 40% tax payer is just £100 a month (Standard model).

A special instrument cluster with an efficiency-focused version of the Driver's Information System (DIS) recommends gearshift points and advises on how to optimise fuel efficiency. The recommendations provided, incorporated into the dash, are proven to improve fuel economy by as much as 30%.

Available in Standard and SE trim levels, Standard models come with 16" alloy wheels, 1-zone climate control, a Chorus radio-CD player with four speakers, electric front and rear windows, ESP and halogen daytime running lights.

SE adds 17" alloy wheels, a 180 Watt Concert audio with MP3, deluxe 3-zone climate control, a 4-spoke leather multifunction steering wheel, colour Driver's Information System, Bluetooth phone connection, cruise control, front centre armrest, automatic headlights and wipers, exterior aluminium package and acoustic parking system - rear.
